How Does Your Garden Grow?

Are there green thumbs in the chapels? Why not start a produce share program? Set up a table in the chapel where gardeners can donate their extra produce. By having a monetary donation can on the table, people attending services can pick up vegetables they need and make a small donation. Gardeners in the chapels might even plant a few extra veggies to benefit the chapel.

Non-gardeners can donate pies, cakes, flower plants, etc.

A little change can add up! A produce share program benefits the chapel, families with no budget for fresh produce, gardeners and veggie lovers!

Post-wide Youth Ministries

Fort Carson is ready to offer post-wide youth ministries! We're gearing up for summer activities and we need youth names and contact information for our new ministry. Activities are gearing up in May so please submit ASAP, all information to Heidi McAllister, Director of Religious Education, 526-5744, heidi.mcallister@us.army.mil

Eggcellent Turnout

Ft. Carson Chaplaincy sponsored a table at this year's Eggsperience, held Saturday, April 4 on post. Visitors took home numerous boxes of bibles, books and religious materials. Over 1,000 s'mores were given away from our table.

Many thanks to Chaplains Williams and Mitchell for putting together the booth (and hauling materials) and to Donna Castle for spending the entire day working the booth.
